Total points are USA 9 Fra 20 Bri 17 Russ 27 Ger 15. Thus the winner was none other than Russia. The players were as follows: USA Atteberry, France Harrison, Britain Willner dropped F 35, Matthews from F 35. Russia Kendry, Germany Deasecker.

~~THESE WERE THE WINNERS~~ of all the different types. Each player had his NOC and PIFC picked.

This was the first game I ran of SWII and it was of the Historical type. Russia won this game due to the 1-1 attack that took place in the Baltic in Fall 40. The USA had 12 pifcs placed there and was attack by 14 Russian factors. With out this attack Russia would have had only 16 points and the USA would have had 13, and France would have been the winner. It is interesting that the one out of six chance did come up.

Since this game started in COAST, all the players still have their first game coming to them in STENCH!!, except for Greg Harrison who is now playing in 72.29m. I have 3 players signed up for the next game, and need but two more.

I'd like to note that France, Lewis Ritter, missed his last moves due to the fact that he never got issue #7. It seems as though the mails got the poor boy. I have not heard anything from Mr. Weeks, or Mr. Van De Graaf, I'll ask both to submit the S 39 moves, and ask Bob Matthews to also submit them for Mr. Weeks. Thus I hope that there will be a player for the USA with the next set of moves. The next moves are due on 19-1-73 which is a Friday. Make sure you get your moves in early.

It seems as though this will be to date the longest STINCH!! that I have put out. It should run four pages. Anyway, for those of you that are interested, Bill Birman's ARTIA carries OWII and a rating system of postal OWII. I'll see if I can get permission to reprint the first rating list and those there after. I'd like to mention that #1 is on the first 5 of Postal OWII and so is your humble G. The best OWII zine, in my opinion, is ~~FREEOWII~~ by John Boardman, 234 E. 19th, Brooklyn NY, 11226. Game fees are $3, and this is the only zine that I play postal OWII in. It runs 12 pages long and is full of really interesting things and the best press around. Right after FREE, I rate ~~FREEOWII~~ and FROG the 2 zine. It is put out by Lew Pulsipher and he does a great job. Besides Origins he has Duply Variants and other things. But can be obtained from Lew at 229 Twin Towers Abilene TX, 79224. Lew plans to run a course with his next OWII game. That is five people, other than the 3 OWII players will be trying to buy and sell money, Francs, Larks, Dollars, pounds, and rubels, according to the play of the game, as the one with the most winning country's currency will have the best shot at winning. Could be fun.

Lastly the lengthy Orgins article that I have talked about.
Understanding Orgins.

In the games of Origins that I have played, I have found that the countries with the best chance of winning, are not the countries with the most power, but those that go after U's instead of O's. It is clearly much easier to place U's than O's and this I contend will make the U'countries the ones to beat.

Add power with getting U's and you have the almost unbeatable combination. I say this because the person placing the U's is first off having the easiest time, and if he has the strength to protect these U's from attacks, there ~~IS~~ are few things that can stop this combination.

The one country that I see like this, is Britain in the Historical game. Though right now the results don't back me up, I say that after about 100 games Britain will have the most wins of any one in the Historical game. I say this because Britain has to place but U's and has the strength to protect this U's. In the one game that I played in though the final Britain won 20 to Germany's 19, Britain had to make but only one attack through out the entire game!

This brings me to another point of the game, attacking. Having to place C's you have do a lot of attacking. And if one gets unlucky a lot of Pi's are going to be wasted. Thus in the Historical game Germany, though having the largest force, is forced to do a lot of attacking to get the C's. Even with the help of Russia in the East Germany faces a bleak chance of cracking the west wall. For if Germany got the help of Russia and places C's in the east Germany has lost many points to Russia, since Russia gets more for each of the three countries. Germany then has to ~~be~~ go west with as much as possible in trying to co-ordinate his attacks with Russia. This is very hard to do also.

Co-ordination of attacks and placing of C's is a minus for the C' countries and a plus for the U countries. The C' countries have to get together in order to make sure that they don't cross each other. The U'countries on the other hand don't have this, since they could cross and it would not matter. This adds another point to the British since it is they that have only U's to get.

The only for some one to break up a U' alliance would be to point out that if you don't attack him that he will win. This doesn't work to well if the U's are really good allies. Thus the pressure is on the allies of the C' countries and off the ones with the U's. This is why I say Britain will be by far the winnest country in Orgins.
